Student Success: Brianna Cain, Income Maintenance Caseworker

Meet Brianna Cain. In February, Cain began a new job with Rockingham County Department of Social Services after completing the NC FAST class offered at Rockingham Community College. NC FAST training prepares a person for a position as an Income Maintenance Caseworker. Students learn how to use the NC FAST software program that determines a community member's qualification or re-qualification for public assistance. Students also learn the soft skills necessary to be successful and feel confident working with the public. Due to the expected retirement of many Department of Social Service employees across the state, a partnership was formed with the North Carolina Community College System to offer the NC FAST training program in order to meet the future employment needs. RCC was one of the first community colleges to offer the training.

"The class was interesting and I enjoyed connecting examples with the real-world intake and evaluation process," said Cain. "The atmosphere at my job is positive and everyone is helpful."

Duke Energy TRAILS at Rockingham Community College has developed a sustainable trail skills training sequence of classes for varying skill levels, interests, and needs. Several courses are offered in two formats to meet student needs and time availability.

Single day classes provide basic information specific to the course title. Multiple day classes provide the same information as the single day classes listed under them and often include additional topics and fieldwork. Lecture, discussion, and experiential activities/fieldwork are combined to help students completely comprehend the course content.

Additional courses will be added in the future based on demand. If your agency or organization has specific trail skills training needs, we can create and schedule a program that meets your needs.

These classes are beneficial for anyone that has an interest in or is responsible for managing natural surface multiple-use trails. These trail skills will enhance the overall skill sets of staff from federal, state, and local government land management agencies; non-profit land conservancies; planning, parks and recreation, and maintenance departments; trail crew leaders, members, and volunteers.

Basic Trail Training - These classes are appropriate for any individuals who will be involved in the planning and design, construction, maintenance, and management of natural surface multiple-use trails. While not always required, the basic trail training classes will provide the ideal background for intermediate and advanced trail training.

Sustainable Trail Layout, Construction, and Maintenance (25 hours)

Sustainable Trail Planning, Design, and Layout (8 hours)

Sustainable Trail Construction with Hand Tools (8 hours)

Sustainable Trail Maintenance (8 hours)

Intermediate Trail Training - These classes are appropriate for individuals who may be involved in the conceptual planning, assessment, permitting, and contracting of natural surface multiple-use trails. Individuals in management roles who work with trail staff and professionals will benefit from the information offered in these classes.

Sustainable Trail Assessment, Permitting, and Contracting (16 hours)

Sustainable Trail Assessment (8 hours)

Sustainable Trail Permitting and Contracting (8 hours)

Advanced Trail Training - Field Experience – These classes are appropriate for individuals who desire more field experience with basic, intermediate, and advanced trail training topics. Small class sizes and focused fieldwork will allow participants to receive guided instruction in the field. Individuals should have prior experience with basic and intermediate trail skills.

Intermediate Sustainable Trail Planning, Design, and Layout (16 hours)
